THE DIATESSARON.

INTRODUCTION.

OF the personal history of Tatian, the compiler of the Diatessaron, very little is known, and this little is chiefly derived from his extant work called An Address to Greeks. He there says: "I was born in the land of the Assyrians, and have been first instructed in your (i.e. Greek) doctrines, and afterwards in those which I now undertake to proclaim." Zahn thinks he was born about A.D. 110. He seems to have been a man of birth and fortune, and of exceptional literary powers, and occupied for a time the position of a Sophist. Animated by a keen desire to arrive at the truth respecting God and religion, he visited many countries, studying closely the worship of each. In Greece he obtained admission to the sacred mysteries; and subsequently he visited Rome, arriving there about the middle of the second century. The effect of his intimate study of the heathen religions was a conviction amounting to absolute certainty that there was no truth in them, and that they exercised a corrupting and debasing influence on the soul. This was accompanied by a longing to ascertain the truth, and to be able to worship God in a way acceptable to Him. At Rome Tatian made the acquaintance of Justin; and it was probably he who drew his attention to "certain barbaric writings, too old to be compared with the opinions of the Greeks, and too divine to be compared with their errors"—in other words, the Old Testament Scriptures. Satisfied that he had found the truth at last, Tatian received instruction in the Christian faith, and became a member of the Church at Rome. Here he continued for many years, writing in defence of the faith, exposing vigorously the false-

ness and licentiousness of the pagan forms of worship, and instructing converts. Here, too, he probably commenced his Diatessaron, with the knowledge and approval of Justin. One of his pupils was Rhodon, mentioned by Eusebius, who has preserved some fragments of Rhodon's writings; and in all probability Clement of Alexandria was also his pupil, since Clement tells us that one of his instructors was an Assyrian. Justin and Tatian worked in complete harmony until the martyrdom of the former, which was brought about through the influence of Crescens, who at a much earlier period, Tatian says, had "endeavoured to inflict on Justin, and indeed on me, the punishment of death." It appears to have been after the death of Justin that Tatian, who seems to have been his successor, began to express views which gave offence to the Christians at Rome, and led to his being excommunicated as a heretic about A.D. 172. Shortly afterwards he left Rome for the East, and seems to have resided chiefly in Syria, not far from Antioch; but he is thought to have died at Edessa about A.D. 180. During his stay in Syria he placed himself at the head of a sect called Encratites—a term signifying The Continent, or Self-Controlled; but it is uncertain to what extent, if at all, he was regarded as a heretic in the Churches of that country. The obscurity in which the career of Tatian is involved is largely due to his being branded as a heretic, which led the writers of the Church to concern themselves more with combating his errors than describing his life.

The peculiar views of Tatian may be briefly stated as follows:—(1) He held in some degree the Gnostic theory of Valentinus, that there were certain Aeons, or emanations from the Supreme Deity, the Logos or Word being the chief; (2) Like Marcion he considered the God of this world, or God of the Old Testament, or Demiurge, as distinct from, and inferior to, the God of the New Testament. Origen tells us that he understood the words, "Let there be light," as the prayer of the God of this world to His superior, which was granted; (3) Tatian believed in the non-salvability of Adam; (4) He advocated and observed celibacy, condemning marriage as no better than whoredom, believing it to be the work of the inferior God; (5) He advocated abstinence from animal food and also from wine. In this respect he introduced a modification into the celebration of the Lord's Supper, so that water might be used instead of wine.

Tatian wrote many works, of which the names of the following have come down to us: An Address to Greeks; The Diatessaron; A Book of Problems, explaining what seemed obscure in the Old Testament; Of Perfection according to the Saviour; On Animals; A Collection of the Epistles of S. Paul. Lightfoot places his literary activity between A.D. 155 and A.D. 170, but says it may have extended a few years beyond this period either way. Westcott places it between A.D. 150 and A.D. 175. The exact time at which he wrote the Diatessaron is uncertain.

In modern times much interest has been awakened in the Diatessaron; but all efforts to discover a copy in Syriac, which many believe to be its original language, have failed entirely; and no Greek copy, supposing that to be its language, has been found. But there is in the Vatican Library an Arabic MS., numbered XIV., which originally consisted of 125 leaves; but the 17th and 118th are missing. From its appearance, and the handwriting, it is supposed to have been written in Egypt at some period from the twelfth to the fourteenth century, the latter date being the more probable. On the last page the copyist has written in Latin, "Here endeth, by the help of God, the sacred Gospel, which Tatian collected out of the four Gospels, and which is commonly called the Diatessaron." It was brought to the Vatican about A.D. 1719. Agostino Ciasca, one of the Guild of Writers to the Vatican, wrote an essay upon it, which he published at Paris in 1883. In 1886 Ciasca showed this MS., amongst others, to Antonius Morcos, Visitor-Apostolic of the Catholic Copts, who said he had seen one like it in Egypt, and could obtain it for him. In August 1886 the promised MS. arrived at Rome as a present to the Borgia Museum from its owner, Halim Dos Gali. It is evidently a copy of the same work as MS. XIV., though it contains some important differences of detail. A note at each end plainly asserts that it is Tatian's Diatessaron. This work Ciasca selected as the most suitable one for publication in honour of the Jubilee of the priesthood of Pope Leo XIII.; and it was accordingly published at Rome in 1888 in the original Arabic, accompanied by a Latin translation, the wording of the text being based on a careful comparison of the two MSS. of the Vatican Library and the Borgian Museum. The present volume is an attempt to lay before the English reader a literal translation of the Diatessaron as published by Ciasca, with a short explanation of its history, contents, and bearing upon modern controversies.

The MS. which reached the Borgian Museum in this singular way, has been the means of explaining the difficulties which prevented the general acceptance of the Vatican MS. as Tatian's work; for, although MS. XIV. closed with a distinct statement that it contained the Diatessaron of Tatian, grave doubts rested upon this assertion (which, it was thought, might only express the opinion of the transcriber), because the contents differed in some important respects from those of the Diatessaron as described by some of the Fathers. In the first place, MS. XIV. contained the genealogies plainly declared by Theodoret to have been absent from the copies he found in use in his diocese. In the Borgian MS., however, these genealogies are absent from the body of the work, but are put together as an appendix bearing the title, "The Book of the Generation of Jesus." It follows that the Borgian MS. represents an older and more faithful copy of a work which originally did not contain the genealogies at all, but to which they were added in course of time, first of all in an appendix as an acknowledged addition to the original, and then eventually as a part of the text itself. Another obstacle to the acceptance of MS. XIV. was, that it began with the opening words of S. Mark's Gospel instead of those of S. John's, as stated by early writers. Here also the Borgian copy solved the mystery; for it had S. Mark's words: "The Gospel of Jesus, the Son of the living God," separated from the main body of the work, as a title, the work itself commencing with, "In the beginning was the Word." It seems safe to conclude, therefore, that the assertion of the copyist in each case is correct, and that we have in these MSS. the Diatessaron of Tatian in two of the forms which it assumed after centuries of use. The Arabic text is divided into fifty-five chapters; and these have been subdivided for convenience of reference into verses corresponding as far as possible to those of the Authorised Version of the Gospels; these will be found to the left of the text. To the right will be found references to the corresponding passages in the four Gospels: these are a revised version of those given in the Vatican MS. We do not get them from Tatian, as verse-divisions were not invented till the sixteenth century.

The advantage of having in one continuous and consecutive story the contents of the four Gospels was found so great that the "compiled" Gospel gradually superseded the "distinct" Gospels in Syria, not only in private use, but in public services, so much so that Theodoret, who became Bishop of Cyrrihus near the Euphrates about A.D. 420, wrote: "I myself found more than two hundred such books held in respect in the churches of our parts; and I collected and put them all away, and put the Gospels of the four Evangelists in their place." Commentaries were also based on this Harmony, such as the Homilies of Aphraates, A.D. 337-345, and the Gospel Commentary of Ephraem, the Deacon of Edessa, and the most famous of the native Syrian Fathers, who died A.D. 373. This latter work is only to be found now in two distinct Armenian MSS. of it, both bearing the date A.D. 1195, one being in the Mechitarist Monastery of S. Lazzaro, near Venice. A careful analysis of its contents shows that S. Ephraem's Harmony followed substantially the same order as the Arabic Diatessaron. The reader is referred to A Dissertation on the Gospel Commentary of S. Ephraem the Syrian, by the present author (T. & T. Clark, Edinburgh).

Victor, Bishop of Capua, who died A.D. 554, met with an anonymous harmony in Latin, and, after much inquiry as to its authorship, concluded that it was a translation of Tatian's work. Victor published it with a preface of his own; and it was brought to Fulda in the eighth century by Boniface, the apostle of Germany. The work is now known as the Codex Fuldensis, and has been edited by Ranke. It is divided into 182 chapters or sections. There is a Table of Contents in barbarous Latin; but the contents themselves are in excellent Latin, evidently copied from the Vulgate. It was probably Victor himself who altered the wording and inserted the first four verses of S. Luke and the genealogies, as they are not mentioned in the Table of Contents. He seems to have also expunged the little explanatory phrases with which Tatian's work in its original form was freely sprinkled. Subject to these variations the appearance of the Arabic version leaves no doubt that what Victor found was really, as he supposed, a Latin version of the Diatessaron. The Codex Fuldensis was translated into the Eastern Frankish dialect in the ninth century, about the time of Charlemagne, who finally imposed Christianity upon the Saxons. His son, Louis the Pious, caused a poetical version to be made of it for the purpose of supplanting the popular ballads relating to Woden and Thor. This celebrated epic poem is now known as Héliand. It was published at Munich in A.D. 1830 from a comparison of the two known MSS., one of which is in the British Museum and the other at Munich. The poem is alliterative, and gives a life of Jesus harmonised from the four Gospels. It is written in the Old Saxon dialect; and the unknown author has allowed himself some freedom in adopting the popular conceptions of the day.

Eusebius described the Diatessaron as "A combination and collection of the Gospels"; and Theodoret, who found so many copies in his diocese, said of Tatian, "He also composed the Gospel called Diatessaron, cutting out the genealogies, and whatever other passages show that the Lord was born of the seed of David," the inference being that these things were cut out of the canonical Gospels, the other portions of those Gospels being made use of. Such was the view generally entertained in the Church. But there have been some who on other grounds did not believe that the Fourth Gospel was written at so early a date, or that the three Synoptic Gospels were yet collected and used in common. They contended that Diatessaron was a musical term derived from the use of four notes, and simply meant a harmony. If, as there seems no doubt, the work published by Ciasca is substantially the Diatessaron of Tatian, subject only to such alterations as would naturally be made in it in the course of centuries, to make it conform more in details to the accepted forms of the canonical Gospels, then this controversy is decisively closed in favour of the orthodox view; for beyond all question the book in its present form is a harmony of our four Gospels, and of no others.

And with this is also set at rest, in favour of the same side, the further controversy, as to whether any or all of our four Gospels, in anything like their present form, were known to Justin Martyr, and alluded to by him in his writings. Justin wrote, "In the Memoirs which I say were composed by the Apostles and those who followed with them" . . . (Dial. c. 103). Would his friend and disciple, Tatian, leave those Memoirs out?

Now one of the objects sought to be established by those who contended that Justin was ignorant of our present Gospels, was this, that the miracles of healing ascribed to Jesus were a later invention, never heard of in the first century, and even unknown in the time of Justin. I have already pointed out, in my English version of Marcion's Gospel,¹ that that Gospel, in which are contained all the miracles of healing found in S. Luke's Gospel except the one performed upon Malchus, was brought by him to Rome about A.D. 140. This fact sufficiently refutes the idea that they were inventions of such a late period, as has been alleged. And now we find it established that Justin Martyr was fully acquainted with and accepted all the four Gospels.

It may be asked, What is the value of the Diatessaron as a harmony? and how does it bear comparison with modern harmonies? Are there any indications within it that Tatian was guided by traditional information, enabling him to decide with certainty points which have appeared doubtful in modern times? The last question may be answered in the negative; but the others cannot be dealt with in this short introduction. To understand all the reasons for and against a particular order of harmonisation is the work of a lifetime; and those who have arrived at that knowledge are unable to agree as to the result. The present writer, therefore, does not presume to answer these questions definitely for the reader. But a few general remarks on the subject may be of interest.

We have to consider Tatian's treatment of any subject that is related in more than one Gospel, e.g. the Parable of the Sower, from two points of view, the internal harmonisation of the several accounts with each other, and the external harmonisation of the result, or the place assigned to it in the general narrative. As regards internal harmonisation, the Diatessaron leaves little to be desired. It has been carried out in the fullest detail, and the greatest care has been taken not to omit the slightest comment of any one Evangelist, unless it was substantially preserved in the words of another. Taking a general review of the external harmonisation, there seems no reason to doubt that Tatian carefully arranged all the events and the movements of our Lord in what he believed to be their chronological order, but did not consider it necessary in all cases to record parables and other discourses in their strictly historical places, preferring sometimes to insert them where they would best serve to illustrate the narrative, or to bring out points of comparison or contrast in the teaching of Christ. This freedom of treatment seems startling to us; but, if Tatian intended his work to be used along with the Gospels, not to supersede them, the chief objection is removed.

An analysis of this book brings out more and more clearly the fact that its author was a man of a powerful intellect, who saw what was a real need in the Church of his day, and set himself with singular ability to supply that need, devoting to this purpose much time and care. The heretical views which he adopted in his later years, caused the outcome of his labour to be looked upon with suspicion, which, so far as we can judge, it does not appear to have deserved. But in spite of this, its intrinsic merit and the need of such a work made it a great success for centuries in its own country, and led to its use at a later period in a modified form in other countries and in other languages, so that even in this country our Anglo-Saxon forefathers derived their conceptions of Jesus and His life on earth to a large extent from their poetical version of it. It is no small privilege to be permitted to be the first to present to English readers a full and literal translation of this great work, which has been a subject of interest to Christians of every age since it was first written, around which so many controversies have revolved, which has been in its entirety so singularly recovered in our own day, which throws so much light on the information possessed by Christians of the second century, and which at the same time possesses a national interest.

INTRODUCTORY NOTE IN THE BORGIAN MS.

IN the name of the one God, the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit, to whom be glory for ever.

With the assistance of the Most High God, we begin to transcribe the Holy Gospel and most beautiful garden, entitled Diatessaron, the interpretation of which expression is, That which is composed of four, and which Tatian, a Greek, compiled out of the four evangelists, Matthew the chosen, whose sign is M; Mark the selected, whose sign is R; Luke the lovable, whose sign is K; and John the beloved, whose sign is H.

The excellent and learned presbyter Abû-l-Faraj Abdullah Ibn-at-Tabîb,¹ with whom God be pleased, translated it from the Syriac into the Arabic tongue.

And he said as a beginning,

The Gospel of Jesus the Son of the living God.

¹ Ciasca observes that this name is given differently in the notice at the conclusion, and says the latter is the more correct form.

² Ephraem has "was God," which was probably the original reading. The reader will do well not to assume that all slight departures from the wording of our Authorised Version are due to Tatian. Some arise from the idioms of the different languages into which the work has been translated, and some from the insertions which have been made in it from the Peschito.

a heading, "Ordo et solemnitas Apostolorum Domini," followed by remarks upon the class of men chosen for the twelve disciples. Dr. Wace thought this an introduction to the calling of disciples; see later, ver. 44 et seq. But is it not rather retrospective, dealing with the call of the first four just related? This heading is only found in one of the two Armenian versions, and there it is in red ink, as if it were a quotation from the Diatessaron, which may originally have been divided into sections suitable for instruction. Cf. p. 13.

- 5 44 And walking by the sea of Galilee, he saw Mt. 4 18
two brethren, Simon, who is called Cephas,

one of them was Simon Cephas's; and into
it Jesus went up, and sat down in it, and commanded them to put out a little from the land into the water. And sitting down
he taught the multitudes out of the boat.

¹ Tatian seems right in putting this incident before Luke iv. 38, 39, as S. Peter would scarcely have felt such "amazement," if he had previously witnessed the miraculous cure of his own mother-in-law. S. Matthew put the latter after the Sermon on the Mount, which position Tatian considered too late.

² These passages are displaced from their original order, so as to represent Jesus as calling His disciples before the imprisonment of S. John the Baptist.

³ This narrative is inserted earlier than S. John's setting of it would imply because Tatian places it during the visit to Galilee mentioned in Matt. iv. 12.

- Jesus was come out of Judaea into Galilee,
 he went unto him, and besought him, that he would come down, and heal his son; for 6 28 he was very near to death. Jesus said unto Jn. 4 48
 him, Except ye see signs and wonders, ye 29 do not believe. The officer of the king said „ 49
 unto him, Sir, come down, lest my child die.
 30 Jesus said unto him, Go thy way; thy son „ 50
 liveth. The man believed the saying, that Jesus spake unto him, and he went his way.
 31 And when he went down, his servants met „ 51
 him, and announced to him,¹ saying, Thy son 32 liveth. And he inquired of them in what „ 52
 hour he got better. They said unto him,
 Yesterday at the seventh hour the fever left 33 him. And his father knew, that this had „ 53
 happened at that hour, in which Jesus said
 unto him, Thy son liveth: and himself
 believed, and the whole family of his house.

 threw him down into the midst, and went out of him, when he had done him no hurt.

⁴ Cf. vi. 46 and vii. 25. Tatian seems to have considered that Levi and Matthew were different persons. For a resumé of the reasons for and against this view see Alford's Greek Testament under Matt. ix. 9. Alford thought the preponderance of testimony was in favour of the distinctness of the persons. It is interesting to find him quoting Clement of Alexandria, who is supposed to have been a pupil of Tatian, as a supporter of the view here taken by Tatian. Ver. 9, 10 are not in the Codex Fuldensis. Ephraem, Moes. p. 58, commenting on the disciples baptizing, says, "He chose James the publican," etc., from which some have inferred that his copy had "James the son of Alphaeus" here, as D a b c and Origen.

² Omitting Mark ii. 18: "And the disciples of John, and of the Pharisees used to fast; and they come." S. Matthew attributes the question, which follows, to the disciples of John only. Tatian, following S. Luke, attributes it to the scribes and Pharisees.

¹ A similar statement in Matt. ix. 13 is omitted at vii. 30.

² It is strange how Tatian removes this verse from the further account, Mark iii. 31, etc., and attributes it to Christ's claim to be lord of the sabbath. It is thus dissociated from the two statements of S. Mark, by which it might be explained, viz.: His neglecting to take food (Mark iii. 20); and the report that he had an unclean spirit (Mark iii. 22 and 30), for which see xiv. 15 and 30; also cf. xvi. 13.

light a lamp, and put it under the bushel,
but on the lamp-stand, that it may shine

light shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father,

 shall not pass away from the law, till all of 48 it be accomplished. Whosoever therefore shall break one of these least commandments,
 and shall teach men so, shall be called least

 shall do and teach them, he shall be called

 I say unto you, Except your righteousness

³ The distinction which Tatian here draws between "wand" and "staff," receives no support from the Greek, where we find the same word for what was allowed according to S. Mark, and for what was forbidden according to the other synoptists. The actual Greek phrases are: Matt. μηδὲ ράβδον; Mark, εἰ μὴ ράβδον μόνον; Luke, μήτε ράβδον.

Ephraem has this distinction; but it is not in the Codex Fuldensis, where the "wand" alone is mentioned, and is forbidden. According to the Armenian the word "staff" seems more applicable to what was allowed; whilst what was forbidden was a rough stick. The Peschito has the same word throughout. The Curetonian (Luke only) has also that word. The Jerusalem Syriac (Luke only) has a different word, which occurs in the Peschito of Mark xiv. 43. There can be little doubt that Tatian first drew the distinction in his Syriac.

² A singular displacement from S. Luke's order. It may have been put here to illustrate ver. 27-29 above. Tatian makes the sisters reside apparently in Galilee, not at Bethany. This is the natural impression conveyed by S. Luke, and it was adopted by Greswell; but the idea prevails that S. Luke has intentionally placed it too early.

 40 or look we for another? And they came „ 20 unto Jesus, and said, John the Baptist hath sent us unto thee, and said, Art thou he 41 that cometh, or look we for another? Now „ 21
 in that hour he cured many of diseases,
 and of plagues of an evil spirit; and on 42 many blind men he bestowed sight. Jesus „ 22 answered, and said unto them, Go, and relate to John all things which ye have seen and heard; the blind receive their sight, the lame walk, the lepers are cleansed, the deaf hear, the dead rise again, the poor have 43 good tidings preached to them: and blessed „ 23

 raiment? Behold, they which are in a costly robe and luxuries, are in king's 47 more than a prophet. This is he of whom „ 27

 it is written,

 To prepare a way before thee.
- 14 1 Verily I say unto you, Among them that Mt. 11 11
 are born of women there hath not arisen a greater than John the Baptist: yet he that

- is less in the kingdom of the heavens, is 14 2 greater than he. And all the people that Lu. 7 29
 were listening, and the publicans, justified
 God, for they had been baptized with the 3 baptism of John. But the Pharisees and „ 30
 the scribes treated unjustly the counsel of God among themselves, for they had not 4 been baptized by him. But¹ from the days Mt. 11 12^a
 of John the Baptist until now the kingdom
 5 of the heavens is seized with violence. The Lu. 16 16 law and the prophets were until John: from thenceforth the kingdom of God is announced
 as good tidings, and all men push themselves forward, that they may enter; and Mt. 11 12^b
 those who strive hard, take it by force.
 6 All the prophets and the law prophesied „ 13
 7 until John. And if ye are willing, receive „ 14
 it that he is Elijah, which is about to come.
 8 He that hath ears to hear let him hear. „ 15
 9 It is easier for heaven and earth to perish, Lu. 16 17
 than for one point to fall² from the law.
 10 Unto whom then shall I liken the men of „ 7 31^b

 11 They are like unto children sitting in the „ 32

 panions, and say, We chaunted unto you,
 and ye did not dance; we mourned unto 12 you, and ye did not weep. John the Baptist „ 33

 13 and ye said, He hath a devil. But the Son „ 34
 of man came eating and drinking; and ye
 said, Behold, a gluttonous man, and a wine-
 bibber, and a friend of publicans and sinners!

Many commentators think the former ought to be postponed and the visit of Christ's brethren inserted here, followed by the series of parables, as in Mark iii. 31, etc.

³ Put before Mark vi. 14-29 (death of S. John), because S. Matthew, who does not mention this return, puts that death at a later period of the history.

 which had bidden him, saw it, he thought within himself, saying, This man, if he were
 a prophet, would certainly know who she is,
 and of what sort her character is, since the
 woman, that touched him, was a sinner.
- 15 1 Jesus answered, and said unto him, Simon, „ 40

 not from whence to pay, he forgave them
 both. Which ought to love him the more?
 4 Simon answered, and said, He, I suppose, to „ 43 whom he forgave the more. Jesus said unto 5 him, Thou hast rightly judged. And, turn- „ 44

 not: but she hath wetted my feet with

 kiss thou gavest me not: but she, since the time she came in, hath not ceased to kiss
 7 my feet. My head with oil thou didst not „ 46
 anoint: but she hath anointed my feet with 8 ointment. On account of which I say unto „ 47 thee, Many sins are forgiven her; for she loved much: but to whom little is forgiven,

 the woman, Thy sins are forgiven thee.

 within themselves, Who is this that even

¹ Tatian having removed these remarks of the evangelist from their setting, has found it necessary to omit the first part of this verse, which applied them to a particular occasion.

15	13 the signs which he did. But Jesus did not trust himself with them, for that he knew	Jn.	2	24

¹ See note to ver. 27.

² The Codex Fuldensis and the Doctrine of Addai have “seventy-two.” Ephraem implies the same in two places (Moesinger, pp. 59 and 160).

³ Ephraem has, “after his own likeness,” instead of “before his face.”

⁵ Addai, who is represented as one of the seventy-two, says, “That which was ours we have forsaken, as we were commanded by our Lord to be without purses and without scrips, and carrying crosses upon our shoulders we were commanded to preach His gospel to the whole creation.”

- you, eat the things which are set before
15 23 you: and heal the sick that are therein, and Lu. 10 9

24 nigh unto you. But into whatsoever city ye „ 10
 enter, and they receive you not, go out into 25 the street, and say, Even the dust from your „ 11
 city, that clave to our feet, we do wipe off against you: howbeit know this, that the 26 kingdom of God is come nigh unto you. I „ 12
 say unto you, There shall be ease for Sodom
 in the day of judgment but not for that city.
27 Then began Jesus to upbraid¹ the cities, Mt. 11 20
 wherein many mighty works had been done,
28 and they had not repented. And he said, „ 21
 Woe unto thee, Chorazin! woe unto thee, Bethsaida! if the signs had been done in Tyre and Sidon, which were done in thee,
 they would peradventure have repented in 29 sackcloth and ashes. Howbeit I say unto „ 22
 you, There shall be rest for Tyre and Sidon
 in the day of judgment, rather than for you.
30 And thou, Capernaum, which art exalted „ 23
 even unto heaven, thou shalt sink down into the abyss: for if the gifts had been made to Sodom, which were made to thee, it would surely have remained even until this day.
31 And now I say unto thee, that there shall „ 24 be ease for the land of Sodom in the day of judgment, rather than for you.
32 He said again to the apostles, He that Lu. 10 16
 heareth you, heareth me; and he that heareth
 me, heareth him that sent me; and he that rejecteth you, rejecteth me; and he that rejecteth me, rejecteth him that sent me.

¹ Tatian has identified this passage with Luke x. 13-15; this appears to be his reason for placing Luke x. 1-12, which cannot well be dissociated from the latter, so much earlier than S. Luke did; for the evangelist clearly intended it to belong to the final departure from Galilee; and surely no time could be more appropriate for this upbraiding, than when Jesus was about to quit the country of these ungrateful cities.

- 15 33 And those seventy returned with great joy, and said unto him, Lord, even the devils
 34 are made subject unto us in thy name. He saith unto them, I saw Satan as lightning, 35 falling from heaven. Behold I have given you authority to tread upon serpents and scorpions, and over every kind of enemies, 36 and nothing shall hurt you. Howbeit ye need not to rejoyce, that the spirits are subject unto you; but rejoyce, because your names are written in heaven.
- 37 And in the same hour Jesus rejoiced in the Holy Spirit, and said, I acknowledge thee, O Father, Lord of heaven and earth,¹ that thou didst hide these things from the wise and understanding, and didst reveal them unto children: yea, Father, so was thy will.

The kingdom of heaven is likened unto a while men slept, his enemy came and sowed

tares amidst the wheat, and went away.

 perchance, when you picked out the tares,

 both grow together until the harvest, and at the time of the harvest I will say to the reapers, Pick out first the tares, and bind
 them into bundles for burning with fire:
 but gather the wheat into my barns.
- 8 And another parable set he before them, „ 31^a 9 saying, Unto what is the kingdom of God Lu. 13 18^b

 10 with what parable shall I compare it? It Lu. 13 19^a

 which of all things that are sown in the earth, is less than all the things that are 12 sown, that are upon the earth; but when it Mt. 13 32^b hath sprung up, it is greater than all the herbs, and maketh great branches; so that the Mk. 4 32^b
 birds of the heaven build nests in its branches.
- 13 And another parable set he before them. Mt. 13 33^a 14 Whereunto shall I liken the kingdom of God? Lu. 13 20^b
 15 It is like unto leaven, which a woman took, Mt. 13 33^b and kneaded in three measures of meal, till
 the whole was leavened.
- 16 All these things spake Jesus in parables „ 34^a unto the multitudes, as they were able to Mk. 4 33^b

 which was spoken by the Lord through the prophet, saying,
 I will open my mouth in parables,
 And I will utter things hidden before the foundation of the world.
- 18 But privately to his disciples he expounded Mk. 4 34^b all things.

- 17 19 Then Jesus sent the multitudes away, and Mt. 13 36
 came into the house: and his disciples came near unto him, and said unto him, Explain unto us the parable of the tares and the

 He that sowed the good seed is the Son of 21 man; and the field is the world; the good seed are the sons of the kingdom; and the ” 38 22 tares are the sons of the evil one; and the enemy that sowed them is Satan: but the ” 39
 harvest is the end of the world; and the

 are picked out, and burned with fire; so ” 40 24 shall it be in the end of this world. The Son of man shall send forth his angels, and ” 41
 they shall pick out of his kingdom all things
 that cause stumbling,¹ and all the workers 25 of iniquity, and shall cast them into the furnace of fire: there shall be the weeping ” 42 26 and gnashing of teeth. Then shall the righteous shine forth as the sun in the ” 43 kingdom of their Father. He that hath ears to hear, let him hear.
- 27 Again, the kingdom of heaven is like unto ” 44
 a treasure hidden in the field; which the man that findeth, hideth; and for joy there-

 buyeth that field.
- 28 Again, the kingdom of heaven is like unto ” 45
 a merchant-man seeking pearls of great

 price, he went and sold all that he had, and ” 46 bought it.
- 30 Again, the kingdom of heaven is like unto ” 47

² It is noticeable how Tatian has cut off part of a continuous account of a visit to Nazareth, beginning at Luke iv. 16, in order to harmonise it with parallel passages in S. Matthew and S. Mark belonging to a later portion of Christ's ministry. The reason for this may have been the mention of a previous visit to Capernaum not recorded earlier in S. Luke, and which had not been placed in the Diatessaron, when the first portion of this narrative was inserted at v. 35.

- 23 the signs which he did on the sick. Jesus therefore went up into the mountain, and
- 24 there he sat with his disciples. Now the feast of the passover of the Jews was very near.
- 25 And Jesus lifted up his eyes, and saw a great multitude coming unto him; and he had compassion on them, because they were
- 26 as sheep not having a shepherd: and he welcomed them, and spake to them of the kingdom, and them that had need of healing,

the fishes, and looking up to heaven, he

² Tatian seems to make this happen on the way from Galilee to Judaea, if we connect it with the opening of this chapter—this is the reverse of S. John's order (John iv. 3). Yet at the close of this visit (xxi. 47) Jesus departs from Sychar to Galilee, as in S. John's Gospel. Perhaps we should rather understand an interval between ver. 7 and 8, during which Jesus has gone to Judaea, so that he is now on his return journey.

- 23 5 And Jesus called his disciples together, Mt. 15 32
 and said unto them, I have compassion on this multitude, because they are continuing
 with me three days, and have nothing to eat:
 and I am unwilling to send them away fasting, lest they faint in the way, for some of Mk. 8 3^b 6 them are come from far. His disciples said Mt. 15 33 unto him, Whence should we have in the desert the bread, wherewith we may fill all 7 this multitude? Jesus saith unto them, „ 34
 How many loaves have ye? They said unto 8 him, Seven, and a few small fishes. And „ 35
 he commanded the multitudes to lie down
 9 on the ground; and he took the seven loaves „ 36
 and the fishes; and he blessed, and brake,
 and gave to his disciples to set before them;
 and the disciples set them before the multi-10 tudes. And they did all eat, and were „ 37 filled: and they took up seven baskets full,
 which remained over of the broken pieces.
 11 And they that did eat, were four thousand „ 38
 12 men, besides women and children. And „ 39
 when the multitudes were gone away, he went up into the boat, and came into the borders of Magheda.

 Jesus sighed in himself, and said, What sign seeketh this evil and adulterous genera-

 shall no sign be given unto it, but the sign

¹ The Ferrar group of MSS. has this reading in Mark ix. 3, showing that those MSS. are influenced by the Diatessaron. Tatian used considerable freedom of harmonisation throughout this passage.

 called one of the lads, and asked him, What 28 is this? He said unto him, Thy brother hath arrived; and thy father hath killed the fattened calf, because he hath found him well.
 29 And he was angry, and would not go in:
 and his father came out, and intreated him 30 to enter. But he said to his father, So many years do I serve thee as a slave; and I never transgressed thy commandment: and yet thou
 never gavest me a kid, that I might feast 31 with my friends: and after this thy son came, having squandered thy substance with harlots, thou killedst for him the fattened 32 calf. His father said unto him, My son, thou art ever with me, and all mine is 33 thine. But it was meet to rejoice and to feast, since this thy brother, that was dead,
 is now alive: and that was lost, hath been found.
- 34 And he spake a parable unto his disciples,
 There was a certain rich man, and he had a
 steward, and he was denounced unto him, 35 that he had wasted his substance. His lord
 therefore called him, and saith unto him,
 What is this that I hear of thee? give me
 the account of thy stewardship; for now thou 36 wilt¹ not be able to be my steward. The steward saith within himself, What shall I do, seeing that my lord taketh away the stewardship from me? I cannot dig; and 37 to beg I am ashamed. I know what I will do, that when I am put out of the stewardship, they may receive me into their houses.
 38 Therefore calling unto him each one of his lord's debtors, he said unto the first, How 39 much owest thou unto my lord? He said unto him, A hundred jars² of oil. He said

 next, but how much owest thou unto my lord? He said unto him, A hundred cors² of wheat. He said unto him, Take thy account, sit down and write fourscore cors.
 41 And his lord commended the steward of ” 8
 unrighteousness, because he had done a wise
 deed: for the sons of this world are in their own generation wiser than the sons of the 42 light. And I say unto you, Make to your- ” 9 selves friends from the money of this unrighteousnes; that, when it shall fail, they may receive you into the eternal tabernacles.
 43 He that is faithful over a little is faithful ” 10

But Jesus answering saith unto him, Ye hypocrites, doth not each one of you on the sabbath day loose his ox or his ass from the stall, and go away to give him water? Ought not this woman, that is a daughter of Abraham, and whom Satan hath bound for eighteen years, to have been loosed from this bond on the day of the sabbath? And as he said this, all his adversaries standing by were put to shame: and all the people rejoiced in all the marvellous things that were done by him.

For until this time even the brethren of Jesus did not believe in him. 2 Jesus said unto them, My time is not yet come; but your time is always ready. version of the Cleansing of the Temple, since they clearly belong to the same visit to Jerusalem. From its nature such an interview would seem more likely, when Jesus was well known, and had come to stay at Jerusalem. Professor Fuller observes, "This position ignores John vii. 50; and has not been imitated." This is not accurate, since that allusion to Nicodemus does not occur in the Diatessaron until xxxv. 14.

	whatsoever thou spendest more, I, when I

	of these three seems to thee to have been more a neighbour unto him that fell among
	44 the robbers? He said unto him, He that	„	37

34	49 man doeth? And the Pharisees heard the multitudes saying these things concerning him; and the chief priests sent soldiers to	Jn.	7 32

	51 unto him that sent me. And ye shall seek me, and shall not find me: and where I am,	"	34
	52 ye cannot come. The Jews said among themselves, Whither is this man about to go, so that we shall not be able to go? Do you think, that he is about to go unto the countries of the Gentiles, and teach the	"	35
	53 heathen? What is this word that he said, Ye shall seek me, and shall not find me: and where I am, ye cannot come?	"	36
35	1 Now on the great day, the last of the festival, Jesus stood, crying and saying, If any man is thirsty, let him come unto me,	"	37
	2 and drink. Everyone that believeth on me, even as the scriptures say, out of his belly	"	38
	3 shall flow rivers of sweet water. This spake he signifying the Spirit, which they that believed on him were about to receive: for the Spirit had not yet been given, because	"	39
	4 Jesus had not yet been glorified. And many of the multitude that heard his words, said, This is of a truth the prophet. And	"	40
	5 some said, This is the Messiah. But others said, Shall the Messiah come from Galilee?	"	41
	6 Doth not the scripture say that the Messiah shall come of the offspring of David, and	"	42

	9 And the soldiers came to the chief priests and Pharisees; and the priests said unto	"	45
	10 them, Why did ye not bring him? The	"	46

- soldiers said, Never man so spake, as this
- 35 11 man speaketh. The Pharisees said unto Jn. 7 47
 12 them, Are ye also led astray? Hath anyone „ 48
 of the rulers or of the Pharisees believed in 13 him? except this multitude which knoweth „ 49
 14 not the law, who are accursed? Nicodemus, „ 50
 one of themselves, who came to Jesus by 15 night, said unto them, Doth our law judge a „ 51
 man, except it shall before have heard from 16 himself, and known what he doeth? They „ 52 answered, and said unto him, Art thou also of Galilee? Search, and see, for from Galilee ariseth no prophet.
- 17 Now when the Pharisees were gathered Mt. 22 41
 18 together, Jesus asked them a question, saying, „ 42
 What say ye of the Messiah? whose son is he? They said unto him, The son of David.
 19 He saith unto them, How then doth David „ 43
 in the Holy Spirit call him Lord, for he saith,
- 20 The Lord said unto my Lord, „ 44
 Sit thou on my right hand,
 That I may put thine enemies underneath
 thy feet.
- 21 If David then calleth him Lord, how is he „ 45
 22 his son? And no one was able to answer „ 46 him; neither did any man venture from that day forth to ask him about any matter.
- 23 And again Jesus spake unto them, saying, Jn. 8 12
 I am the light of the world: he therefore that followeth me, doth not walk in the darkness, but shall find the light of life.
- 24 The Pharisees said unto him, Thou bearest „ 13
 witness of thyself; thy witness is not genuine.
- 25 Jesus answered, and said unto them, If I bear „ 14
 witness of myself, my witness is genuine;
 for I know whence I came, and whither I go; but ye know not whence I came, nor
- 26 whither I go. For ye judge a material „ 15

- 53 Now, behold, ye seek to kill me, a man that speaketh the truth with you, which I have heard from God: this did not Abraham.

	21	When he had said these things, he spat on	"		12

36	26 them. And again they said unto the blind man, What sayest thou of him that opened thine eyes for thee? He said unto them, I	Jn.	9 17
27	say, that he is a prophet. And the Jews did not believe concerning him, that he had been blind, and had received his sight, until they called the parents of him that had	„	18
28	received his sight; and they asked them: Is this your son, of whom ye say, that he was born blind? how then doth he now see?	„	19
29	His parents answered, and said, We know that this is our son, and that he was born	„	20
30	blind: but how he now seeth, or who opened his eyes, we know not: ask him; he is already arrived at the age of manhood, and	„	21
31	he may speak for himself. These things said his parents, because they feared the Jews: for the Jews had decided already, that if any man should confess him to be the	„	22
32	Messiah, they would expel him from the synagogue. Therefore said his parents, He is arrived at the age of manhood; ask him.	„	23
33	And they called a second time him that had been blind, and said unto him, Give glory to God: we know that this man is a sinner.	„	24
34	He answered, and saith unto them, Whether he be a sinner I know not: one thing I know, that, whereas I was blind, now I see.	„	25
35	They said again unto him, What did he to thee? how opened he thine eyes for thee?	„	26
36	He saith unto them, I told you, and ye did not hear: wherefore do ye wish to hear it again? do ye also wish to become his dis-	„	27
37	ciples? And they despised him, and said unto him, Thou art his disciple; but we are	„	28
38	disciples of Moses. For we know that God	„	29

- hath spoken unto Moses: but as for this 36 39 man, we know not whence he is. The man Jn. 9 30 answered, and said unto them, Therefore indeed is the marvel, that ye know not whence he is, and yet he opened mine eyes.
- 40 And we know that God heareth not the. „ 31
 voice of sinners: but he that feareth him, 41 and doeth his will, him he heareth. From „ 32
 eternity it was never heard that anyone opened the eyes of a blind man, born in 42 blindness. Therefore if this man were not „ 33
 43 from God, he could not do this. They „ 34
 answered, and said unto him, Thou wast
 altogether born in sins, and dost thou teach us? And they cast him out.
- 44 And Jesus heard of his casting out; and „ 35
 finding him, he said unto him, Dost thou 45 believe on the Son of God? He that had „ 36 been made whole, answered, and said, Who is he, Lord, that I may believe on him?
 46 Jesus said unto him, Thou hast seen him, „ 37
 47 and he it is that speaketh with thee. He „ 38
 saith, Lord, I believe. And he fell down
- 37 1 worshipping him. And Jesus said, For „ 39
 judging the world am I come, that they
 which see not may see; and that they which 2 see may become blind. And some of the „ 40
 Pharisees which were with him, heard this,
 3 and said unto him, Are we blind? Jesus „ 41
 said unto them, If ye were blind, surely ye
 would have no sin: but now ye say, We see:
 and for this cause your sin remaineth.
- 4 Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that „ 10 1
 entereth not by the door into the fold of the sheep, but climbeth up some other way, the 5 same is a thief and a robber. But he that „ 2
 entereth in by the door is the shepherd of 6 the sheep. And to him the porter openeth „ 3
 the door; and the sheep hear his voice: and he calleth his own rams by name, and they

37	7 go out unto him. And when he hath sent forth his own sheep, he goeth before them, and his rams follow him : for they know his	Jn. 10	4
	8 voice. And a stranger the sheep do not follow, but flee from him : for they hear not	”	5
	9 the voice of a stranger. This proverb spake Jesus unto them : but they understood not what he spake unto them.	”	6
10	Jesus said unto them again, Verily, verily, I say unto you, I am the door of the sheep.	”	7
11	For all, as many as came, are thieves and robbers : but the sheep did not hear them.	”	8
12	I am the door : and if any man enter in through me, he shall live, and shall go in	”	9
13	and out, and shall find pasture. Now the thief cometh not, but that he may steal, and kill, and destroy ; I assuredly came that they may have life, and may have what is	”	10
14	more excellent. I am the good shepherd : now the good shepherd giveth his life for	”	11
15	his sheep. But the hireling, who is not a shepherd, and whose the rams are not, when he seeth the wolf coming, leaveth the sheep, and fleeth ; and the wolf cometh, and	”	12
16	snatcheth, and scattereth the sheep. Now the hireling fleeth, because he is a hireling,	”	13
17	and hath no care for the sheep. I am the good shepherd ; and I know mine own ; and	”	14
18	mine own know me. Even as my Father knoweth me, I also know my Father ; and I	”	15
19	lay down my life for my sheep. And other sheep also I have, which are not of this fold : them also must I call, and they shall	”	16
	hear my voice ; and there shall become one
20	flock and one shepherd. Therefore doth the Father love me, because I lay down my life,	”	17
21	that I may take it again. No one shall take it away from me ; but I lay it down of my own accord ; and I have a right to lay it down, and I have a right to take it.	”	18

This commandment received I from my Father.

 if a man walk in the night, he stumbleth, 56 because the brightness is not in him. These things said Jesus: and afterwards he said unto them, Our friend Lazarus sleepeth;¹ but I go that I may awake him out of 57 sleep. His disciples said unto him, Lord, if he is sleeping,² he will get well. Jesus had spoken this of his death: but they thought that he spake of taking rest in 61 Thuma,³ who is called Thoma,⁴ said unto his fellow-disciples, Let us also go, that we may die with him.

- 38 1 Jesus therefore came to Bethany, and found that he had been in the tomb four days. 17
 2 Now Bethany was nigh unto Jerusalem, and 18
 3 was distant from it fifteen furlongs; and many of the Jews came to Mary and Martha, to console their heart concerning
 4 their brother. Martha therefore, when she heard that Jesus was coming, went out to meet him: but Mary was sitting at home. 20
 5 Martha therefore said unto Jesus, Lord, if thou hadst been here, my brother would not

	14 him. For Jesus was not yet come into the village, but was in that place where Martha	"	30
	15 had met him. The Jews also which were with her in the house to console her, when they saw Mary rising up quickly and going out, followed her, supposing that she was	"	31
	16 about to go unto the tomb to weep. Mary therefore, when she was come where Jesus was, and had seen him, fell down at his feet, and said unto him, Lord, if thou hadst been	"	32
	17 here, my brother would not have died. And Jesus came, and when he saw her weeping, and the Jews which were with her, weeping	"	33
	18 also, he was distressed in his soul, and sighed, and said, Where have ye laid him? They	"	34
	19 said unto him, Lord, come and see. And the tears of Jesus were shed. The Jews there-	"	35
	20 fore said, See how much he loved him! And some of them said, Could not this man,	"	36
	21 which opened the eyes of that blind man, also have caused that this man should not die?	"	37
	22 Jesus therefore, being distressed in his soul, cometh to the tomb. Now the tomb was a cave, and a stone was laid at the mouth of	"	38
	23 it. Jesus saith, Take ye away this stone. Martha, the sister of him that was dead, said unto him, Lord, by this time he stinketh: for he hath been dead four days.	"	39
	24 Jesus said unto her, Said I not unto thee, If thou believest, thou shalt see the glory of	"	40

- 38 25 God? So they moved away the stone. Jn. 11 41
 And Jesus lifted up his eyes, and said, My Father, I thank thee that thou heardest me.
- 26 I indeed know that thou hearest me always : „ 42
 but because of this multitude which standeth
 by I say this to thee, that they may believe
- 27 that thou didst send me. When he had „ 43
 said these things, he cried with a loud voice,
- 28 Lazarus, come forth. And the dead man „ 44 came forth, bound hand and foot with bandages; and his face was wrapped up in a napkin. Jesus said unto them, Loose him, and let him go.
- 29 And many of the Jews, which were „ 45
 come to Mary, when they saw what was
- 30 done by Jesus, believed in him. But some „ 46
 of them went away to the Pharisees, and told them all the things which Jesus had done.
- 31 And the chief priests and the Pharisees „ 47
 gathered together, and they said, What do
 we? for, behold, this man doeth many signs.
- 32 For if we let him thus alone, all men will „ 48
 believe in him: and the Romans will come
 and take away our country and nation.
- 33 But one of them, Caiaphas by name, who „ 49
 was the high priest of that year, said unto
- 34 them, Ye know nothing at all, nor do ye „ 50
 take into account that it is expedient for us
 that one man should die for the people, and
- 35 that the whole nation perish not. Now this „ 51
 he said not of himself: but as he was the high priest of that year, he prophesied that
- 36 Jesus was going to die for the people; and „ 52
 not only for the people, but that he might also gather together at one time the children
- 37 of God that had been scattered abroad. So „ 53
 from that day forth they took counsel to put him to death.
- 38 Jesus therefore walked not openly among „ 54
 the Jews, but departed thence into a place

- near to the wilderness, into a hermitage¹
 which is called Ephraem; and there he was 38 39 going about with his disciples. Now the Jn. 11 55
 passover of the Jews was near: and many went up to Jerusalem out of the villages before 40 the feast, to purify themselves. And they „ 56 sought for Jesus, and said one to another in the temple, What think ye of his lateness² 41 for the feast? Now the chief priests and „³ 57
 the Pharisees had given commandment, that,
 if any man knew where he was, he should disclose it unto them, that they might take him.
- 42 And when the days of his going up⁴ were Lu. 9 51
 fulfilled, he prepared himself to go to Jeru-43 salem, and sent messengers before him: and „ 52
 they went, and entered into a village of 44 Samaria, to make ready for him. And they „ 53
 did not receive him, because he was prepared 45 to go to Jerusalem. And when his disciples „ 54
 James and John saw this, they said unto him, Lord, wilt thou that we bid fire to come down from heaven, and uproot them, even as 46 Elijah did? And Jesus turned, and rebuked „ 55
 them, saying, Ye know not what manner of 47 spirit ye are of. Surely the Son of man „ 56
 came not to destroy lives, but to save them.
 And they went to another village.
- 39 1 Jesus therefore six days before the pass- Jn. 12 1
 over came to Bethany,⁵ where Lazarus was,

¹ Arabic, "kirh."² Or, "absence from."³ Included in ver. 56, as in Vulgate.⁴ Referred by Tatian to the last visit, six days before the crucifixion, perhaps because of the first part of this verse.⁵ Tatian here follows S. John, who fixes the exact time of the Anointing by Mary, and puts it before the Triumphal Entry. In internal harmonisation, however, he displaces John xii. 9-11 for the sake of neatness in the combined account. Ephraem follows the same peculiarities of order (Moes. p. 205). The mention of Simon's house is followed by the plot to kill Lazarus before the Anointing. The Codex Fuldensis identifies this anointing with that in Luke vii. 36, etc.

- 39 2 whom Jesus raised from the dead. And a breakfast was made for him there: and Martha served; but Lazarus was one of them
3 that reclined at meat with him. And while Jesus was at Bethany, in the house of Simon
4 the leper, a great multitude of the Jews heard that Jesus was there: and they came, not for Jesus' sake only, but that they might see Lazarus also, whom he raised from the 5 dead. But the chief priests took counsel that they might put Lazarus also to death,
6 because by reason of him many of the Jews went away, and believed on Jesus.
- 7 Now Mary took a case of ointment of the best nard, very costly, and opened it, and poured it upon the head of Jesus, as he 8 reclined at meat; and anointed his feet, and wiped them with her hair: and the house was filled with the odour of the 9 ointment. But one of the disciples, Judas Iscariot, who was going to betray him, said,
10 Why was not this ointment sold for three 11 hundred pence, and given to the poor? He said this, not because of his care for the poor; but because he was a thief, and having the bag himself carried the things that 12 were put therein. The rest of the disciples also were vexed at this among themselves, and said, To what purpose is this ointment
13 wasted? For it might have been sold for much, and given to the poor. And they 14 murmured at Mary. But Jesus perceiving it, saith unto them, Let her alone; why trouble ye her? she hath performed a good work on me. She hath kept it for the day
15 of my burying. For the poor are always with you; and when ye will ye can do them good: but I am not always with you.
- 16 On that account, when pouring this ointment upon my body, she did it as it were for my

 And upon a colt the foal of an ass.

 but after Jesus was glorified, his disciples remembered that these things had been written
 of him, and that they did these things unto him.

³ Or, "rode."

⁴ So in the Arabic. The dual form is used, "send ye both them both." Ciasca has taken the alternative rendering, "they both sent them both," which, however, is contrary to the meaning here.

⁵ This verse being a comment of the evangelist, and not a part of the history, is put earlier by Tatian in connection with the prophecy which in a different form S. John puts after the bringing of the ass.

⁶ Omitting Mark xi. 4: "and found the colt tied by the door without, in a place where two ways met."

- 39 27 Jesus had commanded them. And when they had loosed them, the owners thereof

 29 And they brought the ass and the colt, and put their garments upon the colt; and 30 Jesus rode thereon. And the most part of the multitude spread their garments before him on the ground; and others cut branches from the trees, and spread them in the way. „ 8

 33 And a great multitude that had come to the feast, when they had heard that Jesus was coming to Jerusalem, took the branches of the palm trees, and went forth to meet him, and cried out, saying, Praise: blessed is he that cometh in the name of the Lord, Mk. 11 10^a

had done.

chief priests and the Pharisees saw the wonderful things that he did, and the chil-

3 were annoyed, and said, Hearest thou what „ 16

Of these verses 42, 43 are a comment of the evangelist, which might be placed at any point in the account of this visit. Ver. 44-50 naturally follow them, and with the verses from S. Luke following them, they explain in a very natural way why Jesus went and hid himself, John xii. 36^b.

¹ Or, "I, a light, am come."

darkness, shall be heard in the light: and
that which ye have whispered in the ears
in the chambers, shall be proclaimed upon the housetops.
- 21 These things spake Jesus, and he departed, Jn. 12 36^b 22 and hid himself from them. And though „ 37
he had done all these signs before them, 23 they believed not on him: that the saying „ 38
of Isaiah the prophet might be fulfilled,
which he spake,
Lord, who hath believed, that he may
hear us?
And the arm of the Lord, to whom hath
it been revealed?
- 24 For this cause they could not believe, for „ 39
Isaiah said again,
25 Blind ye their eyes, and bring darkness to „ 40
their heart;
Lest they should see with their eyes, and
understand with their heart,
And should turn,
And I should heal them.
- 26 These things said Isaiah, when he saw his „ 41
glory, and spake of him.
- 27 And Jesus went out from the temple; and Mt. 24 1
some of his disciples came to him, and showed him the buildings of the temple, and its 28 beauty and magnificence, and the strength of Mk. 13 1^b
the stones used in it, and the elegance of its

¹ No more convenient place could be found for these two verses, in view of the fact that the prolonged discourse which follows immediately is at once followed by a reference made by Jesus to this date; cf. xlv. 1 and 2. The placing Mark xiv. 1, 2 before Mark xiii. 3 does not involve a chronological error, since xlv. 1 shows that the same day is still present.

² Besides taking Luke xxi. as the parallel to Matt. xxiv. and Mark xiii., Tatian inserts passages from other parts of S. Luke which deal with the same subject, though their position in the third Gospel implies that they were spoken earlier. In this way he is enabled to present to his readers a more complete account of our Lord's teaching upon this important subject.

 Jesus dipped the bread, and gave it to Judas,
 5 the son of Simon Iscariot. And after the „ 27
 bread Satan entered into him. And Jesus said unto him, What thou wishest to do,
 6 make haste to do. Now no one of those „ 28

 Judas had the bag, that he commanded him
 to buy what was needed for the feast; or 8 Judas the betrayer answered, and said, Is Mt. 26 25

¹ Aphraates adds here "as often as ye come together," showing clearly that Tatian borrowed from the account in 1 Cor. xi. in compiling the Diatessaron. The insertion of the Lord's Supper after the departure of Judas involved a displacement of the subject of Luke xxii. 17-20 from that evangelist's order. The preference was therefore given to other Gospels, only the last clause of Luke xxii. 19 being retained.

² A marginal note opposite this verse, in an eleventh century MS., No. 5647 in the British Museum, says that in the historical Gospel of Diadorus and Tatian there followed the words, "but another took a spear and pierced his side, and there came out water and blood." Cf. John xix. 34. As no such person or Gospel is known, Diadorus may be a mistake for Diatessaron. Cf. lii. 17.

⁴ Omitting Mark xv. 39: "which stood over against him," and "that he so cried out, and gave up the ghost."

¹ Ephraem here has, "Woe was it, woe was it to us: this was the Son of God!"

The Curetonian Syriac here adds, "and saying, Woe to us, what is this! Woe to us for our sins!" One Latin Codex has a similar reading. A very interesting discussion of the original form of this passage in the Diatessaron will be found in Mr. Rendel Harris's Essay, pp. 34, 35.  of Judaea, who was a good man and upright, not consented to the counsel and deeds of

 the accusers, and was looking for the kingdom 27 of God. This man then came, and went in Mk. 15 43^b unto Pilate, and requested of him the body 28 of Jesus. And Pilate marvelled how he " 44 had already died. And calling unto him the centurion, he asked him about his death 29 before the usual time. And when he had " 45^a clean linen cloth, and took down the body of Jesus, and wound him in it. They came Jn. 19 38^d

 came unto him also Nicodemus, who had before come to Jesus by night, bringing with him a mixture of myrrh and aloe, about a

 Jesus, and wrapped it in linen cloths and

¹ The guards would naturally go to report at the same time as the women. It is therefore, historically, a matter of indifference which fact is related first. But it was convenient to Tatian to group the appearance of the Saviour to the women on their way with a series of His other appearances not reported by S. Matthew. To do this he naturally related the proceedings of the guard first.

	Mary Magdalene, and Joanna, and Mary the mother of James, and the rest of those that were with them: and these were they that 37 spake unto the apostles. And they, when they had heard them saying that he was	Mk. 16	11
	alive, and had appeared unto them, believed 38 not. And these words were in their eyes as the words of madness.	Lu. 24	11 ^a
	39 After these things he was manifested unto	Mk. 16	12 ^a
	two of them on that very day, and as they	Lu. 24	13 ^b

	40 longs from Jerusalem, and were talking with	„	14
	each other of all these things which had

	43 not recognise him. And he said unto them,	„	17
	What communications are these that ye address one to another, as ye walk, and
	44 are sad? One of them, whose name was	„	18
	Cleophas, answered, and said unto him, Art thou alone a stranger to Jerusalem, since thou hast not known the things which are 45 come to pass in it in these days? He said	„	19
	unto them, What hath happened? They said unto him, Concerning that Jesus who was from Nazareth, which was a prophet, and mighty in speech and deeds before God

	48 Yet certain women also of our company told	„	22
	49 us, that they had gone to the tomb; and when they found not his body, they came, and said, that they had seen angels there,	„	23
	50 which said of him, that he was alive. And certain also of our company went to the tomb, and found it even so, as the women said, except that they did not see him.	„	24
	51 Then said Jesus unto them, O destitute of understanding, and of a heavy heart to	„	25

	53 And beginning from Moses and all the prophets, he interpreted concerning himself	„	27

	55 neighbourhood. And they constrained him, saying unto him, Abide with us: for the day hath already declined towards darkness.	„	29

² Part of this verse is repeated in lv. 5.

³ Cf. xxxvii. 61 n. for the Arabic forms: these have no meaning in Arabic; but they are transliterations of the regular Syriac words for "Thomas" and "Twin," i.e. Didymus.

⁴ There is no mention of nails in the feet either here or in S. John. Ephraem distinctly implies in his remarks (Moes. p. 248) that the hands only were pierced by nails. And in The Gospel according to Peter, in describing the removal of our Lord from the cross, it says, "they drew out the nails from the hands."

54	21	be not faithless, but believing. Thaum	Jn.	20	28
		answered, and said unto him, My Lord, and 22	my God. Jesus said unto him, Now because	„		29
		thou hast seen me, thou hast believed:
		blessed are they that have not seen, and yet
		have believed.
	23	And many other signs did Jesus in the	„		30
		sight of his disciples, which are not written 24	in this book: but these are both written,	„		31
		that ye may believe on Jesus, the Messiah,
		the Son of God; and that believing ye may have eternal life in his name.
	25	And after these things Jesus shewed him-	„	21	1
		self again to his disciples at the sea of Tiberias; and he manifested himself to them
	26	on this wise. There were together Simon	„		2
		Cephas, and Thaum, who is called Thoma,
		and Nathanael, who was of Cana of Galilee,
		and the sons of Zebedee, and two others of 27	his disciples. Simon Cephas said unto them,	„		3
		I go to catch fishes. They said unto him,
		We also come with thee. And they went forth, and went up into the boat; and that 28	night they caught nothing. But when	„		4
		morning came, Jesus stood on the seashore:
		but the disciples knew not that it was 29	Jesus. Jesus therefore said unto them,	„		5
		Children, have ye anything to eat? They
	30	said unto him, No. He said unto them,	„		6
		Cast your net on the right side of the ship,
		and ye shall find. They cast therefore;
		and they were unable to draw the net for
		the multitude of fishes, that were come into 31	it. And that disciple, whom Jesus loved,	„		7
		said unto Cephas, This is our Lord. And Simon, when he heard that it was our Lord,
		took up his coat, and girded it up to his
		loins (for he was naked), and cast himself
		into the sea, that he might come to Jesus.
	32	But the other disciples came in the ship	„		8

	(for they were not far from land, but about two hundred cubits off), dragging the net
54 33	full of fishes. And when they went up	Jn. 21	9
	unto the land, they saw live coals laid, and 34	a fish laid thereon, and bread. Jesus said	„	10
	unto them, Bring of these fish, which ye
35	have now caught. Simon Cephas therefore	„	11
	went up, and drew the net to land, full of great fishes, a hundred and fifty and three :
	and with so great a weight, the net was not
36	rent. Jesus said unto them, Come, and sit	„	12
	down. And no one of the disciples dared to ask, who he was, knowing that it was our Lord : yet he did not appear unto them in 37	his own form. ¹ And Jesus came and took	„	13
	the bread and the fish, and gave unto them.
38	This is the third time that Jesus was mani-	„	14
	fested to his disciples, since he had risen
	from the dead.
39	So when they had broken their fast,	„	15
	Jesus said to Simon Cephas, Simon, son of Jonah, lovest ² thou me more than these?
	He said unto him, Yea, Lord ; thou knowest
	that I love thee. Jesus said unto him, Feed 40	my lambs for me. He said to him also	„	16
	again, Simon, son of Jonah, lovest thou me?
	He said unto him, Yea, Lord ; thou knowest
	that I love thee. He said unto him, Feed
41	my rams for me. He said unto him also	„	17
	the third time, Simon, son of Jonah, lovest thou me? And Cephas, being grieved because he said three times, Lovest thou me?
	said unto him, Lord, thou knowest ³ all things ; thou knowest -that I love thee.

¹ Tatian seems to have based this addition upon Mark xvi. 12, "in another form." Cf. xxiv. 3.

² In the Arabic no distinction is drawn throughout this passage corresponding to the ἀγαπᾶν and φιλεῖν of the Greek.

³ Or, "recognisest ;" a different Arabic word from that rendered "knowest" in other parts of this narrative.

- Jesus said unto him, Feed my sheep for 54 42 me. Verily, verily, I say unto thee, When Jn. 21 18
 thou wast young, thou girdedst thyself, and walkedst whither thou wouldest: but when thou art old, thou shalt stretch forth thy hands, and another shall gird thee, and 43 bring thee whither thou willest not. This ” 19
 he said unto him to signify by what manner of death he was going to glorify God. And when he had spoken this, he saith unto him, 44 Come after me. But Simon Cephas, turning ” 20
 about, saw the disciple whom Jesus loved
 following him—that one which leaned back on the breast of Jesus at the supper, and said, Lord, who is he that shall betray thee?
 45 When therefore Cephas had seen him, he ” 21
 said to Jesus, Lord, and this man, what 46 shall be concerning him? Jesus said unto ” 22
 him, If I will that he tarry till I come, 47 what is that to thee? follow thou me. And ” 23
 this saying was spread abroad among the brethren, That disciple will not die: and Jesus said not, that he should not die; but,
 If I will that he tarry till I come, what is
that to thee?
 48 This is that disciple which beareth witness ” 24
 of these things, and wrote them: and we know that his witness is true.
- 55 1 But the eleven disciples went into Galilee, Mt. 28 16
 unto the mountain where Jesus had appointed 2 them. And when they saw him, they wor- ” 17 shipped him: but some of them doubted.
- 3 And as they sat there, he appeared again Mk. 16 14
 unto them, and upbraided them with their lack of faith and hardness of heart, because they believed not them, which had seen that 4 he was risen again. Then saith Jesus unto Mt. 28 18^b them, All authority hath been given unto 5 me in heaven and on earth: for even as my Jn.¹ 20 21^b

- Father sent me, so I also send you. Go ye therefore into all the world, and preach my 55 6 gospel to every creature; and teach all the Mt. 28 19^b nations, and baptize them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy 7 Spirit: teaching them to observe all things „ 20
 that I commanded you: and lo, I am with you all the days unto the end of the world.
 8 For he that believeth and is baptized shall Mk. 16 16
 be saved; but he that disbelieveth shall be 9 condemned. And these signs shall follow „ 17
 them that have believed on me: in my name shall they cast out devils; and they 10 shall speak with new tongues; they shall „ 18
 take up serpents; and if they drink a deadly poison, it shall not hurt them; they shall lay hands on the sick, and they shall recover.
 11 But tarry ye in the city of Jerusalem, until Lu. 24 49^b ye be endued with power from on high.
 12 And our Lord Jesus, after he had spoken Mk. 16 19^a unto them, led them out unto Bethany: and Lu. 24 50
 he lifted up his hands, and blessed them.
 13 And while he blessed them, he was separated „ 51
 from them, and ascended into heaven, and Mk. 16 19^c 14 sat down at the right hand of God. And Lu. 24 52
 they worshipped him, and returned to Jeru-15 salem with great joy; and they were con- „ 53
 tinually in the temple, praising and blessing
 God. Amen.
 16 And they went forth from thence,¹ and Mk. 16 20
 preached everywhere, the Lord helping them,
 and confirming their sayings with the signs
 which they did.
 17 And there are also many other things Jn. 21 25
 which Jesus did, the which if they should be written one by one, according to my opinion even the world itself would not contain the books that must be written.

¹ "From thence" is added in connection with "Jerusalem," which was mentioned in ver. 14.

CONCLUDING NOTE IN THE BORGIAN MS.

THE Gospel is concluded, which Tatian compiled out of the four Gospels of the four holy apostles the blessed evangelists, on whom be peace, and which he named Diatessaron, that is, That which is composed of four. The excellent and learned presbyter, Abû-I-Faraj Abdullah Ibn-at-Ṭayyib, with whom may God be pleased, translated it from Syriac into Arabic, from a copy written by the hand of Gubasî ibn Ali Al-mutayyib, a disciple of Ḥunain ibn Ishâk, on both of whom may God have mercy. Amen.
